There are a lot of people out there who want to tell you which electric vehicle charger to buy, but none of them put the units through the torture tests ...

Since home charging equipment (EVSE) is something many have questions about, I thought it makes sense to feature his reviews here, so people can have a sense of what the best ...

State of Charge is dedicated to bringing you the latest electric vehicle reviews, range tests, and comprehensive EV charger reviews.

Overall the video is very good. The short summary is that the Equinox EV has some issues with thermal limiting that make it a below average ...

I'd want to see how many miles are added in 15 minutes of fast charging starting at 10% state of charge. That's a better measure of "goodness" for an EV as it covers both how quickly it will fast charge AND ...

In the search for the best level 2 EV chargers of 2024, Tom Moloughney has named Emporia the clear winner. EV enthusiasts know ...

Tom Moloughney just dropped his review of the Emporia EVSE on his State of Charge channel. I know a lot of members here have been recommending it. Other than the holster, it seems ...

He's covered EVs since the BMW Mini E program in the late 2000s. His reviews are great resources for picking the right "Level 2" charger to install ...

We put the Emporia through our usual paces, using one for a few months to charge a Ford F-150 Lightning and a Rivian R1T before securing this new unit to do the ...
